

"Winterset" Play Cast Named As Rehearsals Commence

"The play has some very beautiful poetic passages—Maxwell Anderson utilizes the dramatic climax with great artistry—presents a challenge to our student actors," is the opinion of Dr. Harold Hayes regarding the winter quarter University Players' production, "Winterset."

Featuring the tragic love story of Mio and Miriamne, the play bears resemblance to the ill-fated romance of literature's star-crossed lovers, Romeo and Juliet. Its author, Maxwell Anderson, might also have been influenced by the famous Sacco-Vanzetti case of 30 years ago, in which a paymaster was killed by two gunmen, and the convicting judge was haunted by his decision.

See the play February 13, 14, 15 and form your own opinions.

The cast to date includes Herbert Taylor and Joann Hella, as Mio and Miriamne, Jim Powell as Trock, Don Sundquist as Esdras, Bob Leestamper as Garth and Joe Evans as Judge Gaunt.

Supporting roles will be portrayed by Nancy Rasche, Mary Ann Ehlers, Joy Ganyo, Dick Heim, Russell Tornio, Dennis LaRoque, Bill Nelson, John Rasche, Dwaine Ganyo, Bernard Dinner, Ryder Silvian, John Hussy, Harry Brusell and Will Sweeny.

Jean Holmstrand is scenic designer.

Coke, Tea Parties Slated For Sorority 'Rush' Week

On Sunday, January 13, the sorority rushing season at UMD was initiated by an Inter-Sorority tea at Tweed hall. The purpose of this tea, open to any girl interested in sororities, and sponsored by the Inter-Sorority council, comprised of Delta Beta Gamma, Sigma Phi Kappa and Sigma Psi Gamma, was to let the girls who are in sororities meet those who are interested but not members.

Misses Jewell Olson, Marilyn Lee and Norma Davidson, presidents of the three sororities, explained that any girl who has a "C" grade average is eligible to become a member. An honor system, The Code of Friendly Greeting, which went into effect January 14, prevents fraternizing during the rush season between present sorority members and those who wish to become members.

Murray Announces Start of Annual Sno-Week Plans

Plans are already underway for the annual Sno-Week festivities, according to an announcement by General Chairman Bob Murray.

The official Rush Week starts January 22 and will consist of the individual sorority coke parties and teas. For these events, the rushees will receive invitations.

The coke parties which will be held on three consecutive days will be January 22, Sigma Psi Gamma; January 23, Delta Beta Gamma; and January 24, Sigma Phi Kappa.

All three teas will be held January 27. Bids climaxing the week will be out on the morning of January 28.

Minnesota Senator Humphrey Speaks At Political Convo

By PEGGY HELLA

Last Friday, the faculty and student body of UMD were privileged to hear Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. This convocation was the first in a series of political programs which will be presented here. The Democratic-Republican Forum is the sponsoring organization.

Senator Humphrey is a forceful, dynamic and sincere speaker. His speech was not aimed directly for the purpose of attaining votes, nor was it a reiteration of the planks of the Democratic party platform. It was a general statement of his views in regard to the foreign policy of the United States. If votes were the purpose of the speech, they were indirectly obtained because the speech demonstrated Senator Humphrey to be an alert, intelligent and energetic member of Congress.

Senator Humphrey opened his speech with the statement that clean government could be obtained by getting at the source, namely, getting the people to vote.

The Minnesota senator does not think that this country is going bankrupt. "We have never

ROTC Lays Plans For Annual Ball

Groundwork for next spring's gala Air Force ROTC activities, including the annual "Sweetheart of the Corps" contest and military ball, was laid at a recent Arnold Air society meeting, when general chairman Tom Sermon announced a slate of committee heads to handle these projects.

John Burns was named to direct plans for the "Sweetheart" contest, which will result in the selection of a successor to the present Sweetie, pretty Sybil Wainstock.

A sparkling variety show, in conjunction with the official crowning of the new Sweetheart, is scheduled for some time in late April. Herb Taylor is in charge of arrangements for this event, known last year as the "Foullies of 1951."

Al Diehl is dance chairman for the military ball, held at the Medical Arts ballroom last spring, and Harry Brusell will head the publicity committee for the three events.

EDITORIAL . . .

DOES THIS MEAN YOU?

With mid-quarters and final examinations a long way off, perhaps it is safe to comment upon the unsavory practice of cheating in college.

It is a problem that applies to most colleges, and perhaps the time has come to suggest some action. The fault is not with the students alone. They are brought up in a society that thrives upon and encourages competition with a desirable goal in sight. To attain this end, the means are sometimes forgotten or ignored.

The instructors could be of greater assistance in this matter by checking "leaks" of information before the examination day, by conducting tests within physical facilities that enable the alternate seating of students, and by having a sufficient number of proctors present to deter any tendency toward the use of "crib" notes and wayward glances.

The approach thus far has been on the surface of the problem and certainly we must delve a bit deeper. It is definitely a truism that more emphasis is placed on the grades than the subject matter learned and retained. The student must be convinced that there is some benefit to be derived from a course other than the mark. All courses must be made meaningful to the student, and here the instructor again enters the picture.

Many times the exams that are given pertain to facts, statistics, and dates. Material that requires only memorization may pertain to a few courses, but is used in all too many courses. An examination should be an indication of the student's judgment and intellectual ability. This may call for subjective tests, and questions relative to the subject, but not included in the course or textbook.

Maybe there is no problem of this nature at UMD, maybe this line of reasoning is on the wrong track; if such be the case let us have your opinion on the subject.—A Student.

"YOUR CLUB" SERIES—No. 9

Lettermen Aid Tots

By BOB MURRAY

The "M" club was organized for two purposes: first, to stimulate and promote interest and good sportsmanship in our program of intercollegiate athletics; and second, to aid, maintain and support the athletic program. In order to qualify for membership, the applicant must have earned a letter in a competitive sport.

The officers for the present academic year are: Bob Murray, president; Bob Braff, vice-president; Bernie Neary, secretary; and Norm Ward, treasurer. Adviser for the group is football coach Lloyd Peterson.

In addition to the officers there is a four-man executive council elected at the beginning of each academic year. The purpose of this council is to appoint all committees and be responsible for their functioning.

The "M" club has made it an annual function to have a Christmas party for boy orphans from the three orphanages of Duluth. However, this year, the Christmas party was cancelled because the orphans had a previous commitment.

The club is planning to have a party at a later date to make up to their little friends who, some day, they hope to see on future athletic teams. Some of the orphans have made the statement that the "M" club really knows how to throw a party.

If the club can find ways and means to raise sufficient funds, they have an excellent project in mind for this spring.

The "M" club would like very much to invite some of the more prominent high school athletes from the immediate area to come for a get-together this spring.

The "M" club members feel that such a project would be very helpful in inducing athletes to come to UMD next fall. This is a worthwhile project and if the necessary funds can be raised, the club members are confident that the project can be carried out.

Statesman Ponders Question of Year

As the old year passes into the new, it is customary for the various magazines and news-gathering agencies to select what they consider to be the question of the year.

The STATESMAN, in accordance with this practice, has likewise attempted to pick out of the multitude the timely and pertinent questions of supreme importance.

What will be the outcome of the United Nations police action in Korea? Who will be the Republican candidate for president? World War III, a possibility for 1952? Higher taxes in the new year, and what will be done about inflation?

All these topics were considered, but were discarded in favor of a more significant, salient, and momentous question, the question of the year, "What Will Be the Shape of the Port-holes on the New Buick?"

Biggest Fee Bite: Athletics

By RUTH ANN SRAMEK

In view of the present relatively large activities fee, many students have raised the question, "How is my money being spent, anyway?" The STATESMAN has endeavored to find the answer.

After much investigation, including conferences, interviews, and examination of business office files, we have excavated the following facts:

Testing and counseling, headed by Mr. Wenzel, takes thirty-five cents, per quarter, from each student. This helps to pay for the services offered the students. Entrance test fees are also taken from this sum.

Miss Larson, our librarian, informed me that the one dollar is put in the library budget, from which supplies are purchased. It is mainly used for the purchase of new books, secondly the purchase of periodicals. The fees which they collect for overdue books are turned into the Business Office, hence into the budget.

Three dollars and fifty cents

Jack of All Trades Ready for Depression

By LEN WHEAT

Architect, carpenter, painter, artist, plasterer, electrician, wall-paper hanger, upholsterer, cartoonist—that's a partial list of the vocational skills possessed by Mel Keldsen, UMD art major.

"I picked up most of my skills before the war," explains Mel. "That was during the depression, and I didn't have the opportunity to go to college at that time. But I did manage to learn the various building trades while trying to earn a living."

While in the navy during the war Mel earned the distinction of being selected to design Admiral Halsey's quarters on the battleship New Jersey, which was then under construction. Halsey's cabin was—and is—one of the largest and finest suites occupied by a naval officer.

At present Mel is busy rebuilding an apartment house in his spare time. He bought the four-family dwelling after the building was gutted by a fire. Using only the original outside frame, Mel is completely redesigning and rebuilding the interior and remodeling the old-fashioned exterior into modern international style architecture.

Except for some assistance from an electrician, he is doing all the work himself. (Mel, a graduate of Coyne Electrical Institute where he was first in the class, is himself an expert electrician, but since he lacks a license he must hire help on this aspect of the work.)

So far Mel has completed the front of the building and two of the apartments. During Christmas vacation he almost finished a third and he hopes to have the work completed by next year.

Those apartments which have been completed are really something to see. All woodwork, trim, and cabinets have been shaped and molded from rough lumber. Shelves decorated with Mel's own ceramic and sculpturing creations form open partitions between the kitchen and dinette. Glass block panels and corner windows add both to illumination and appearance. Many original ideas, such as covering doors with wallpaper to form one continuous pattern, give a striking effect.

Mel hopes to have the building, which any student may see by walking or driving past 1621 East First street, completed by next year when he graduates.

is the amount students pay for entrance to basketball games, football games and all the other men's activities. This money is put aside for equipment, transportation, and other necessary things needed by the teams.

Aside from this there is ten cents, which is being saved for women's athletics.

The Health Service receives two dollars and fifty cents from each student, per quarter. This makes possible the services of Dr. McSween. Anyone on campus, paying this fee, has the privilege of his services. But please, let's need it first.

The room with all the pigeon holes receives twenty cents, which helps to pay for the original cost, repairs, and stuffing of the P. O. boxes.

Our spirited band, orchestra and chorus are promoted with forty-five cents, which is used mainly to pay for new music. We would hardly care to hear those old songs forever.

The fee of sixty cents taken out for convocations, helps in a small way to pay for the special speakers, but it does help.

Those handy little address books, or to be more exact, Student Directories, cost us each the minimum fee of ten cents. They're worth their weight in gold when you want to call "that certain someone," aren't they?

Seventy-five cents is all it takes to entitle students to see our three dramatic performances. Each quarter twenty-five cents is put aside to be used for costumes, scenery and other like things necessary for the production of the plays.

That orange bus, which comes in so conveniently on these cold winter days, extracts thirty cents, which by no means pays for vehicle, driver, and gas. The additional five cents per passenger is still insufficient to cover operating costs, but it all helps. And what would we do without it? Freeze!

Dr. Pierce's Speech Clinic, located in the Lab School, receives fifteen cents, which is used to pay for services and equipment. Anyone that has used this clinic will say it is worth much more than fifteen cents.

Seventy-five cents per quarter, or two dollars and twenty-five cents per year, is set aside to help pay for our student annual, The Chron. This amount is used to partially pay for printing, photography, art and editing.

The Student Union fee of one dollar and seventy-five cents is used for the maintenance of Washburn. We must admit that is a job which we could all help to make easier.

We are all looking toward the future by helping in a reserve fund, which will be used for the fulfillment of our hopes, a new campus. Each student supports this with three dollars per year.

As the saying goes, "Last but not least," eighty-five cents is all you pay per quarter, for the printing and editing of this noble and wonderful paper(?)

Chi Rho Alpha Pi Displays Latest in Crazy Hazing

By DICK HEIM

My brow was knit with consternation when I spotted one, a freshman. It was a girl, clean shaven, with a crew cut, dormant acne, a cavernous mouth ejaculating raucous basketball chants, heavily sinewed arms thrashing two tattered pom-poms into a shredded oblivion, and a wild glare in her beady little eyes.

"Are you—a freshman?" I asked somewhat hesitantly. "I'm the Statesman interviewer."

"Yew ain't joshin', man," she bellowed healthfully, and my ribs gave way under her good-natured blow. I spat blood and picked up her pom-pom in an effort to continue the interview, but as I handed her the abused object, her knee lit into my pelvic structure, and I went down. Laughing heartily she stood above me supplying the information for my interview without being questioned.

"We frosh brung this school some pep, real school spirit fight team fight—dat blow I jus' give ya is our new secret play. Rah, Rah! Sky U Ma, Pa and Granma, Zinameraki—Whoosh!" She tore her shortie coat from her shoulders, displaying a tattered football jersey, and rolling her coat into the shape of a football, she charged across the front lawn and threw a block at the sundial pedestal.

"Could you tell me where the Commies are?" It was an hour later. I rolled over to see a kind-faced youth made awkward by pubescence. "My old man told me there's a lot of Commies at this school and I would like to see some." I pointed to the ex-Republican club president and the assistant editor of this paper. "There go two of the wretches now," I lied flagrantly.

"Dirty Commies!" he blurted, and in pugilistic stance, he shot forth lethal blows in the direction of the distant duo.

"Look, Counter-spy—" I hated to interrupt him. "As an interviewer I want to know how you like UMD."

"Magnif! Terrif! Marvy! Our whole frat loves Um Dee—we're the Chi Rho Alpha Pies. I just took the CRAP oath, but I can't repeat it. I can tell you about our crazy hazing though. That ratty Pre Med frat wears doctor's masks and caps but we CRAPS in the Zoology department carry live rats in our shirts."

He opened his shirt and showed me the rodents. "My maw thinks it's swell that I'm a CRAP, but she don't like the rats too much," he explained.

"Unimaginative woman, your mother."

"Yeah, won't wash my shirts no more."

"Well, remember what Nietzsche said: 'Insanity in individuals is something rare, but in groups, parties, nations, and epochs, it is the rule . . .'" I comforted him.

"Did he keep rats in his shirts?"

"No, he was a Sigma Omega Tau . . . drank himself to death."

Report from Your COUNCIL..

by BOB LEESTAMPER

This would be a good time to answer a few questions that may be in your minds. Such as, what is the Student Council? Also, what is its organizational makeup?

This may be of interest to upperclassmen as well as new students because, during the past four years little has been written concerning these aspects of the Council.

To answer the question, what is the Student Council, I would say that it is the duly elected student group to co-ordinate student sponsored activities and in general, represents the student body in all University affairs.

As to the organizational makeup of the Council, it is very extensive.

A. Each recognized organization on campus with a minimum of twenty members elects one member as Council representative. This accounts for 34 members.

B. The editor of the Statesman and the editor of the Chronicle represent the campus publications.

C. One member represents Torrance hall.

D. One member is elected-at-large for each 400 students.

E. The presidents of the four classes are automatically Council members.

F. The president of the Council is elected-at-large from the student body. This election is held the spring quarter preceding the year he is president.

This makes a total of 46 members. An average attendance on Tuesday evening is 35. The Constitutional Committee is studying this situation to decide if a smaller Council would be more desirable.

At the first meeting of the Council, a vice-president, a business secretary, and a correspondence secretary are elected from the Council members. This year these positions are held by Jerry Cook, Virginia Christie, and Donna Grace, respectively.

Within two weeks of the first Council meeting, the president chooses six members to serve as his Executive Committee. It is the duty of this group to handle any business that arises between regularly scheduled meetings and to hold meetings with the faculty concerning student-faculty relations.

The Council meets each Tuesday night at 6:15 in Room 207 Main. Any one is welcome to come to a meeting. Although a non-member student cannot vote he or she may normally ask questions or bring up an item of new business.

Calling All Coeds

By LOIS CONRAD

It seems as if skiing has reached an all-time height of enthusiasm among UMD coeds. Could it be in the hopes of being discovered for the Olympic ski team that we amateurs trudge out to Mont du Lac even on the snowiest, windiest January nights only to go home in more pieces than a cracked egg? Or perhaps it is just for the exercise and companionship that we leave our cozy fire-sides and take to the open air—and airy it is, especially if you plan on jumping.

To make recognition and delivery easier always remember to have your name and address on the bottom of your skis for you will undoubtedly be plowed under at least one snow bank during the year—with your skis the only thing visible. We will not even attempt to list the possible breaks, fractures and "sore" spots which accompany your many tries down the unloading platform, for these, you will find, vary with the individual.

Ski shops all over the country are busier than bees outfitting ardent enthusiasts with properly fitting skis (waxed 2 by 4's if you prefer), harnesses, poles and boots, not to mention the many extras such as ski suits, mitts, caps, and socks which of course are just as necessary. No one sees much of this stuff though, unless you spend ALL your time as the guest star of the rescue squad.

You'll find, and quickly enough, that everything on a ski hill goes down—and, we hope, in a standing-up position, except the tow. The tow could be a very useful gadget if it didn't leave us with so many stiff arms. However, tow ropes do encourage us to try again and you just can't resist this urge if you hope to attain the Olympics before the snow melts and the ski season is gone for another year.

Minnesota Senator Humphrey Speaks

Humphrey approves of our present and past foreign policy and he advocated an active participation in foreign affairs by the United States. It is his belief that one of the reasons why Europe is in such dire distress today is because the United States did not accept her share of international responsibility after World War I.

With the aid that has been given her by the United States, Europe, he claims, is on the way to reconstruction. "If we hadn't aided Europe with UNRRA, the Marshall Plan, and Turkish Aid there would be no Western Europe today in the sense that we think of a free Western Europe," he stated. Humphrey also added that Europe is doing all she can to help herself.

One of the main sources of Russian strength is that the USSR is a totalitarian government with 800 million people under its domination and they are integrated politically and economically. "Our problem in Western Europe," he said, "is that it is a body of disunited countries." Our foreign policy then, he feels, should be directed at the unification of the Western free world. This, can be partly accomplished, Senator Humphrey thinks, by the Schumann Plan, a united Western Army and the Atlantic pact.

Senator Humphrey stated also that the potential strength of the free world is five to one but in actuality it is only three to one.

DINNER ELECTED FRAT PRESIDENT

Bernard Dinner was recently elected president of the Gamma Theta Phi. A vacancy in office was created when Jim Dow, who is planning to enter the service, resigned at the beginning of this quarter.

With the fraternity planning the rushing of new pledges, Dinner will be faced with a great deal of work.

FOREIGN FILM SERIES BEGINS

"La Femme de Boulanger," (The Baker's Wife), a French comedy classic compared by many with the Chaplin masterpieces, was shown last night in the auditorium. This film was the first in a series of foreign films scheduled this year.

Sponsored by the department of modern languages, the series offers outstanding films in German, French and Swedish, all of which have English subtitles. Dr. Lily Salz and Mr. Ivan Nylander are in charge of arrangements.

Those who saw "La Femme" will agree with Harper's Bazaar that it was the "lustiest, most compassionate comedy ever screened."

EDDOLLS' PUCKSTERS HOST TO JAYS

YOUTHFUL GORDY EDDOLLS (center), UMD's new hockey mentor, takes time out from showing his young team the finer points of the game. ## Bulldogs Seek Second Win; Must Contend With Former U. S. Olympic Team Captain

By DWAIN GANYO

Tomorrow night, at 6:30 p.m., is face off time in the Curling club, and the green-clad Bulldogs take the ice for their first game in a week, seeking to improve on their 1-1 record against the Blue Jays of St. John's. Their last outing was a 5-4 win over St. Cloud.

These young, hopeful Bulldogs have come a long ways since losing to some of the local high schools in early season scrimmages. There are only two seniors on the team and one is returning letterman Wally Heikkinen.

The other senior is "Wimpy" Shegrud of Richland, Wisconsin, the only out-of-state player Coach Eddolls has on the roster. All the rest are first or second year men except for juniors Joe Kolar and Ron Kramnic.

St. John's comes here as the conference favorite largely on the basis of the 12-4 shellacking they handed St. Cloud. They are led by Boesser who scored five goals and three assists against St. Cloud.

Boesser was the United States Olympic hockey team captain in the 1948 Olympics. They are the favorites despite the fact that their sports editor in a preseason prognostication picked the UMD Bulldogs to annex the crown. Coach Eddolls never did play against the Johnnies in his undergraduate days as a Bulldog skater which included an undefeated season in 1949, but says that they have always been tough down through the years.

In fact, Eddolls says "they're all tough."

Affable Gordy is taking over the post of hockey coach, formerly held by Hank Jensen. Jensen has taken a year's leave of absence but plans to return to UMD next year.

Sport Talk

By JOHN
KREBS

A new sport is about to enter the annals of UMD's extensive intramural program—provided enough students show sufficient interest.

Curling.

A great game, this sport of curling. Upon watching the game, one gets the impression, and rightly so, that these curlers must be less a few marbles.

We don't know.

It is possible that anyone who goes out into an unheated pavilion only to sweep in front of a 40-pound rock for some 30-odd yards—well, anyway, we just don't know.

Athletic Director Lew Rickert is an ardent "staneheaver," as the interpid followers of game call themselves. Yours truly is also one of the so-called curlers. So are many others—in fact, more fellows are taking up the game every year as this ancient Scottish sport is increasing in popularity.

To explain the art of curling is virtually impossible. It is a bedazzling combination of horseshoe, table shuffleboard, bowling, housemaid's knee and what have you!

But it's fun.

That is the phenomenal thing about this curling—it is actually a lot of fun. But one must actually get out and try the game to really enjoy and appreciate it.

It is with this idea of getting you to enjoy and appreciate curling that Lew Rickert plans to start an intramural curling league. The league will begin early next week—but only if enough students show interest in learning to play the game.

It will cost nothing, save the bus fare to and from the Curling club. You need not have ever played, or even watched the game—and don't be ashamed if you don't know what curling is!

Brother! Believe me, you've a lot of company on that last point.

Free instruction, free equipment and free use of the Curling club ice will be offered to those signing up for the game.

So, why don't you and three of your friends form a team. Those who would like to play and are not on a team just sign up individually. When enough have signed, teams will be formed and a league formulated.

"Curling coach" Rickert would rather have students sign individually so that teams could be formed equally according to experienced players. Students interested may sign up:

(1) in room 5, Main

(2) or sign name and PO box on a slip of paper and place in PO 752.

Sign up now, you'll find out curling is a great game.

Bulldogs Seek First Loop Win

Head Basketball Coach Joe Gerlach's sporadic Bulldogs hope to end a current three-game losing skein tomorrow night when his oft-beaten hoopsters are host to a strong St. John's quintet.

The game will be held in the National Guard Armory, beginning at 8:00 p. m.

Thus far in the season, the Branchmen have been beaten eight times while winning but two contests.

In conference play, which began following the Christmas holidays, the Bulldogs have yet to win a game—dropping three straight. Gustavus was the first MIAC squad to wallop the Hounds, turning in a convincing 75-50 victory on their home floor. Augsburg last Saturday overwhelmed Gerlach's youngsters, 61-39. Joey Hutton's Pied Pipers from Hamline kept the Duluth Branch in the league cellar as they solidly thumped the Bulldogs in the Armory last Wednesday night.

Bruce Paulson, 6' 3" sophomore forward, is the main scoring threat possessed by the Branch quintet. Frosh Forward Mel Koivisto and U. J. Anderson, who has been coming along of late, have been consistent scorers in the past few Bulldog defeats.

Soph Center John McKeag, hampered recently by a serious cold, is expected to be back in top condition for the Johnny tilt.

St. John's, coached by John Hiller, is led by Captain Rich Rawlings and Bill Christopher, an all-conference selection of last season. Five-foot, 11-inch Jack Litchy and Jerry Opatz, sophomore from St. Cloud, are the Bluejay sentinels.

Also listed on the St. John's roster are two former Duluth Cathedral graduates, forward Dick Matuzak and forward Pat Connors. Bob Johnson, Denfeld star of a few years back, is one of the top men on the Johnnies' team.

Basketeers Drop Third MIAC Game, Lose to Mighty Pipers

A Hamline starting five reaching for the combined height of 32 feet, 3 inches was too much for the recalcitrant Bulldogs of UMD as they dropped a 76-61 verdict last Wednesday night in the Duluth Armory.

Forward Jim Fritsche—6 feet, 8 inches of Hamline's towering total stature—tipped, hooked and set in 11 field goals and four free throws for 26 points.

Bruce Paulson and the ailing John McKeag paced the Branchmen by garnering 14 counters apiece. Hard-jumping John converted on 10 of 13 gift shots, most of them coming in the second half.

Coach Joey Hutton's prodigious Pipers did the expected as they went ahead 11-0 early in the fracas. Steady play by left forward Lloyd Thorgaard and freshman guard Tommy Richardson enabled Hamline to hold a 21-point spread at intermission time.

The UMD-men rallied in the third period against Pied Piper substitutes and managed to narrow the deficit to a respectable 59-46 by the start of the final stanza.

The reappearance of Hamline regulars silenced the Bulldog bark and the game ended with the Pipers over UMD, 76-61.

WAA ACTIVITIES

The WAA hoopsters are again pounding the hardwoods as they sharpen their aim and tactics for the round robin tournament that begins competition this week. Tuesday from 4:00 to 6:00 and Wednesday from 5:00 to 6:00 in the gym are the scheduled times for play. Six captains elected to head the teams were, Peggy Woods, Betty McCall, Joann Johnson, Delores Herald, Shirley Ott and Virginia Christie. Each team will be composed of approximately eight girls. Those wishing to play on a team are requested to sign up in the girls locker room.

New Sport Added To I-M Program

Curling

With the advent of curling on the intramural sport scene, a whole new field is opened for the athletic-minded student attending UMD.

The new sport is open to both men and women. Rickert hopes to start the new league by Jan. 21. Anyone interested should contact either Mr. Rickert in the athletic department or they may put name and PO box number in PO box 752.

Bowling

The defending champion Klokay bowling team and Peterson's scored clean sweeps over the Door-Mats and the Carps, respectively, to set the pace in the opening week of intramural bowling. Hanson won two from Lindberg in the third match.

Copping honors for the week were: Klokay, high three game, 1,974; and high single, 675; Fleming, high three game, 536; and Moilanen, high single, 194.

Basketball

Members of the intramural leagues this quarter are as follows: League One—Shysters, Parasites, Carps, Square Roots. League Two—Lakers, West Rangers, ROTC, Bulldogs, Trayer's Tramps. League Three—Gamma Theta Phi, Beta Phi Kappa, Unknowns, UMD Christian Fellowship, Schmatzigs.

One more team is needed to have a balanced league in Group Two. Play started Jan. 17.

Devine Appointed Freshman Grid Coach at Michigan State

Danny Devine went another step up the ladder of success towards big-time coaching Wednesday.

UMD Loses, 4-1, In Hockey Opener

UMD's hockey team, in its first start of the season, dropped a 4-1 decision to St. Thomas in a match played recently in St. Paul.

The game was played in a rough, crowd-pleasing manner with freshman wing Bob Juneo taking three visits to the penalty box.

The score was knotted at 1-1 until midway through the second period.

It was a closer game than the score indicated, according to Coach Gordy Eddolls, who also added that the team showed up very well.

St. Thomas had the benefit of experience obtained from playing several games prior to this tilt while this was UMD's first encounter.

Wally Heikkinen scored the lone UMD goal.

Thomas' Goal Gives UMD First Victory

With less than two minutes to play, John Thomas raced the length of the rink to smash in the goal that gave UMD a 5-4 decision over St. Cloud in the Curling club last Saturday night before a crowd of approximately 750.

The Bulldogs led 1-0 at the end of the first period and soon pulled away from the Huskies to lead 3-1.

The persistent St. Cloud sextet tied things up for the second time in the game and then went out in the lead 4-3 with only five minutes to go.

But the aggressive, hard-playing UMD squad would not say die and knotted the score at 4-all, setting the stage for Thomas' winning goal.

Coach Eddolls said his whole team performed very well, especially the defense. Standouts on defense were Tim Harney, Ron Scott and Tommy Ventrucci. Net tender Tony Mendesh had a good night making 15 stops.

Scoring for UMD were Scott, Wally Heikkinen, Joe Kolar, Wimpy Shegrud and Thomas.
